On the last Sunday of each liturgical year, the Church celebrates the Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe.

Pope Pius XI instituted this feast in 1925 with his encyclical Quas primas (“In the first”) to respond to growing secularism and atheism. He recognized that attempting to “thrust Jesus Christ and his holy law” out of public life would result in continuing discord among people and nations. This solemnity reminds us that while governments come and go, Christ reigns as King forever.

During the early twentieth century, in Mexico, Russia, and some parts of Europe, militantly secularistic regimes threatened not just the Catholic Church and its faithful but civilization itself. Pope Pius XI’s encyclical gave Catholics hope and—while governments around them crumbled—the assurance that Christ the King shall reign forever. Jesus Christ “is very truth, and it is from him that truth must be obediently received by all mankind” (Quas primas, 7). Christ’s kingship is rooted in the Church’s teaching on the Incarnation. Jesus is fully God and fully man. He is both the divine Lord and the man who suffered and died on the Cross. One person of the Trinity unites himself to human nature and reigns over all creation as the Incarnate Son of God. “From this it follows not only that Christ is to be adored by angels and men, but that to him as man angels and men are subject, and must recognize his empire; by reason of the hypostatic union Christ has power over all creatures” (Quas primas, 13).

The Church calls us to acknowledge Christ’s kingship with our whole lives:

He must reign in our minds, which should assent with perfect submission and firm belief to revealed truths and to the doctrines of Christ. He must reign in our wills, which should obey the laws and precepts of God. He must reign in our hearts, which should spurn natural desires and love God above all things, and cleave to him alone. He must reign in our bodies and in our members, which should serve as instruments for the interior sanctification of our souls, or to use the words of the Apostle Paul, ‘as instruments of justice unto God.’
-Quas primas, 33

Today, religious freedom for many people means that we can believe whatever we want in private, but when we enter the public square or the marketplace, we may not speak of anything that relates to our faith. However, the Church acknowledges the reign of Christ, not only privately, but publicly. This solemnity encourages us to celebrate and live out our faith in public. “Thus by sermons preached at meetings and in churches, by public adoration of the Blessed Sacrament exposed and by solemn processions, men unite in paying homage to Christ, whom God has given them for their King” (Quas primas, 26).

For Christians, when our faith is repeatedly marginalized in public life, we can fall into the habit of compartmentalizing our lives. We love Jesus in our private lives, but we shrink from acknowledging the kingship of Christ in social life. When we celebrate the Solemnity of Christ the King, we declare to the world and remind ourselves that Jesus is the Lord of the Church and of the entire universe.

Immaculate Conception

On December 8, we celebrate the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, which references Mary's conception in her mother's womb without the stain of Original Sin:

"Through the centuries the Church became ever more aware that Mary, "full of grace" through God, was redeemed from the

Do's and Don'ts for Helping a Grieving Friend

This month we have focused a lot on the process of grieving. One major part of this is not about the griever but how we, as someone who cares about them, responds to the grieving person. Here is a short little list that might help you out.

Do's

Ask questions-

You connect by showing interest in their experience.

Respect their Experience-

It's not important who's "more" correct

Remember this grief is theirs-

Grief belongs to the griever—your opinions are irrelevant

Trust your friend-

They are stronger than you think

Mirror their reality-

When they say "This Sucks," you say "Yes, it does"

Stay in the moment-

Unless the person is talking about the past, then join them there

Get consent-

before you give advice or offer strategies

Don'ts

Compare griefs-

Each person's grief is uniquely theirs

Fact check or correct-

Especially in early stages of grief, details may be confusing

Minimize-

Even if you think their grief is out of proportion to the situation

Be a Cheerleader-

When things are dark for them

Talk about "later"-

Only right now is relevant to the griever

Start with solutions-

People need to be "heard" not "fixed"

Give compliments-

Someone in pain doesn't need to be told how wonderful they are

Prescribe-

The solution that worked for you may not be right for them.

Remember a loved one this Holiday Season with Christmas Flowers

Help to decorate the churches for the Christmas Season. Memorial donations will be recognized in a roll of names during the holidays. All forms need to be turned in by December 16 to the parish office or in the collection basket.
