PRAYER CHAIN REQUESTS

Call Jim or Paulette at: ..... 688-3237

I am the good shepherd, says the Lord; I know my sheep and mine know me." This is the very familiar passage from today's Gospel, John 10: 11-18, that we can all relate to. Just as in Psalm 23, we picture God as our shepherd and Jesus as our good shepherd. We all long for a shepherd. We all need someone to lead us, protect us and to guide us. We are all a lot like sheep and sheep need their shepherd. Our world certainly needs a good shepherd, right now! We need someone that we can trust to lead us, as a nation and all around the world.

Sheep, as humans, like to be together. Think about it, we don't do well on our own. There is safety in numbers, we benefit from being together. Congregations, of course, are sometimes called flocks, just as a group of sheep have been named. Christians are supposed to spend time together, we are not intended to be on our own. That is why Jesus created the church, and that's why we "sheep" come together to be with our shepherd.

It turns out that sheep are very good at learning and especially hearing the voice of "their" shepherd. During biblical times it was very common for the shepherds to take their sheep to a common and safe watering hole. Picture a bunch of shepherds together with lots and lots of sheep chaotically making all kinds of noise as they gather. Today we have cars and radios and all they had were sheep and shepherds trying to communicate at the same time. But at the end of each day, each shepherd would call for 'their' sheep and they would each follow their own shepherd to a safe place. In the midst of all of that chaos, all of those competing voices, the sheep would hear their shepherd's voice and would follow their own shepherd. We, too, are supposed to listen to our good shepherd and follow him! Today, more than ever, with all our competing noises - TVs, computers, phones, and tablets, we need to listen to the voice of our good shepherd.

Sheep have the definite characteristic of being natural followers. They don't like to be pushed but prefer to be led. Sheep trust their shepherd and go where their shepherd goes. The shepherd goes first to make sure the way is safe and then invites the sheep to follow. Isn't that exactly what Jesus is asking of us? Jesus is not going to push us or force us, but he promises to lead us, protect us and even lay down his life for us!

Out of the mouths of babes? OR . . . is it . . . Out of the mouths of LAMBS???

Imagine . . . a cute, little cuddly lamb which suddenly awakes on a cold and terribly uncomfortable piece of unfamiliar ground and speaks. "Where am I. How did I get here?" Suddenly I remembered that yesterday, I thought that I would walk away from the flock to a greener pasture. Now, I realize that what I thought to be a better place, was just a figment of my imagination. What do I do now? How would I get back to my mother, my family, and the good shepherd? At the end of the day, the good shepherd counts every one of his sheep and calls them by name into the fold for a good night's sleep. Now I must try to go back home, but as I attempted to go back home, I felt that the grass had turned into prickly thorns. I was so confused and turned around! Why didn't I listen to my mother when she told me never to wander outside of the flock?

All of a sudden, behind me, was a wolf, ready to pounce on me. But, just as the wolf was about to attack, he suddenly fell to the ground. I heard a loud thump, turned my head, and opened my eyes to see that the wolf was dead on the ground! What happened? The very next thing that I saw was my good shepherd with a slingshot in his hand. He then welcomed me in his arms and told me that he had been looking for me. What a relief it was hearing his familiar voice welcoming me back and telling me that I was truly missed.

The next thing that I can remember was the good shepherd laying me next to my mother. She rejoiced and thanked the good shepherd for finding me. I begged my mom's forgiveness as she reminded that sheep are defenseless animals. We need our shepherd. Now, I know that I will never take my eyes off our good shepherd!

Jesus is our shepherd, the Good Shepherd. We are his sheep. Flocking together, listening for his voice and following him, is exactly what we should be doing daily. Our world has not out-grown the need for a shepherd. It is now, just as it has always been, a world in need of a good and faithful shepherd. We are blessed to have a shepherd who is good, loving, faithful and one who promises to lead us all the days of our lives. We should help this shepherd by being good and faithful sheep. This can be done by "flocking" together, faithfully listening to his voice and following him.

So, let us be his sheep, until that blessed day when we gather by our shepherd in the house of the Lord, forever!

Musically yours,

We are currently updating our list. If you would be interested in being a person who sends out these cards, please contact our office and leave your name.

What we provide you:

*A list of names (no more than 30)

*Greeting Cards

*Postage

Please pray about participating in this service as a way to give back a small portion of the love and care our Lord has bestowed upon you.

Thank you and God Bless,

Bertie Albright,

Care Ministry and Outreach coordinator and as always ...What so ever you do for the least of my people.....

Why should we have a wedding in church?

In the Catechism of the Catholic Church we read...

"From a valid marriage arises a bond between the spouses which by its very nature is perpetual and exclusive; furthermore, in a Christian marriage the spouses are strengthened and, as it were, consecrated for the duties and the dignity of their state by a special sacrament." (1638)

Marriage is a SACRAMENT. An outward sign of an inward grace. Therefore, we receive sanctifying graces to enrich our marriage and perfect the natural love of husband and wife. Thus, we fulfill our Baptismal Promises that were made with our parents and godparents and renewed in our Confirmation.

Newly engaged?
